Methodology and Response Rates for the 2015 Legislative Effectiveness Survey

The N.C. Center for Public Policy Research conducted its legislative effectiveness survey in December 2015 through January 2016. At that time, 50* state Senators, 120** Representatives, 382 registered lobbyists (including the lead state agency legislative liaisons), and 32 state capital news correspondents were asked to rate the effectiveness of each member of the North Carolina General Assembly on a scale of one to 10. Senators were asked to rank only other Senators, and Representatives rated only their fellow Representatives.

Seventy-five of the 120 House members (63%) responded to the Center's survey, as did 27 of the 50 Senators (54%), 160 of the 382 lobbyists and lead legislative liaisons based in North Carolina (42%), and 7 of 32 capital news correspondents (22%). The overall response rate was 46%.

The survey's purpose was to identify the most effective legislators in the General Assembly. The Center asked respondents to base their ratings on legislators' participation in committee work, their skill at guiding bills through committee and floor debate, their general knowledge and expertise in special fields, the respect they command from peers, their ethics, the enthusiasm with which they execute various legislative responsibilities, the political power they hold (by virtue of office, longevity, or personal skills), their ability to sway the opinions of fellow legislators, and their aptitude for the overall legislative process.

The following pages list the effectiveness rankings for the 2015 North Carolina Senate and House of Representatives and include rankings from previous legislative sessions where applicable.

TERMS USED IN ATTENDANCE TABLES

Party-County: This is the political party and the home county of the legislator. (“D” indicates Democrat, “R” indicates Republican).

Legislative Days: This is the total number of days the legislative chamber met during 2015. The Senate met for 137 days and the House met for 135 days. Both Houses met for a one-day organizational session on Jan. 14, 2015. They met in regular session from Jan 28, 2015 to Sept. 30, 2015.

Days Fully Absent: This is the number of legislative days for which official records of the House and the Senate indicate that a member received an excused absence from the legislative session for the entire day.

The North Carolina Center for Public Policy Research is an independent, nonprofit organization dedicated to the goals of a better informed public and a more effective, accountable, and responsive state government. The Center conducts high-quality, objective research and provides insights, analysis, and recommendations on public policy issues of statewide importance. We educate decision makers to help them form sound policy. We inform citizens about how their government operates and help them understand the connection between policy and their daily lives. We encourage engagement by convening diverse voices and providing tools to increase civic participation. Based on its research, the Center makes recommendations for improving the way government serves the people of this state. In all its efforts, the Center values reliable and objective research as a basis for analyzing public policy, independence from partisan bias and political ideology, the richness of the state's diverse population, and a belief in the importance of citizen involvement in public life.

The Center was formed in 1977 by a diverse group of private citizens for the purpose of gathering, analyzing, and disseminating information concerning North Carolina's institutions of government. It is a nonpartisan organization guided by a self-electing Board of Directors and has individual and corporate members across the state. The Board is designed to mirror the population of North Carolina in terms of gender, race, geography, and political party affiliation.

Center projects include the issuance of special reports on major policy questions; the publication of a journal called North Carolina Insight; a newsletter called "From the Center Out"; and participation of members of the staff and the Board in public affairs programs around the state. An attempt is made in the various projects undertaken by the Center to synthesize the thoroughness of scholarly research with the readability of good journalism. Each Center publication represents an effort to amplify conflicting ideas on the subject under study and to reach conclusions based on sound rationalization of these competing ideas.
