Methodology and Response Rates for the Survey of Rankings of the Most Influential Lobbyists in the 2001 North Carolina General Assembly

The N.C. Center for Public Policy Research conducted its biennial survey during February, March, and April of 2002, after adjournment of the legislature's regular session in December 2001. All state Senators and Representatives, 321 registered lobbyists, and 28 state capital news correspondents were asked to list the 10 most influential lobbyists and/or state agency legislative liaisons during the 2001 session of the North Carolina General Assembly. Those surveyed received a list of all the lobbyists and legislative liaisons registered with the N.C. Secretary of State.

Seventy-two of the 120 House members (60%) responded to the Center's survey, as did 27 of the 50 Senators (54%), 146 of the 321 lobbyists based in North Carolina and lead state agency legislative liaisons (45%), and 15 of 28 capital news correspondents (54%). The overall response rate was 50%.

At the end of the 2001 session, 580 lobbyists were registered with the Secretary of State, representing 657 different companies or organizations. The Center's calculations of the number of lobbyists count each lobbyist only once, even if they represent more than one client. There were also 168 legislative liaisons, representing 40 different state government agencies and licensing boards, registered with the Secretary of State.

The following pages list the most influential lobbyists during the 2001 North Carolina General Assembly, as ranked by legislators, fellow lobbyists, and capital news correspondents. Where applicable, rankings from previous legislative sessions are included. If the lobbyist is a former legislator or a lawyer, that also is indicated.

The North Carolina Center for Public Policy Research is an independent, nonprofit organization dedicated to the goals of a better informed public and more effective, accountable, and responsive government. The Center identifies public policy issues facing North Carolina and enriches the dialogue among citizens, the media, and policymakers. Based on its research, the Center makes recommendations for improving the way government serves the people of this state. In all its efforts, the Center values reliable and objective research as a basis for analyzing public policy, independence from partisan bias and political ideology, the richness of the state's diverse population, and a belief in the importance of citizen involvement in public life.

The Center was formed in 1977 by a diverse group of private citizens "for the purpose of gathering, analyzing, and disseminating information concerning North Carolina's institutions of government." It is a nonpartisan organization guided by a self-electing Board of Directors and has individual and corporate members across the state.

Center projects include the issuance of special reports on major policy questions; the publication of a magazine called North Carolina Insight; public affairs programs with WPTF-AM radio, the N.C. Radio News Network, WUNC-TV, and Time Warner Cable TV; and the regular participation of members of the staff and the Board in public affairs programs across the state. An attempt is made in the various projects undertaken by the Center to synthesize the thoroughness of scholarly research with the readability of good journalism. Each Center publication represents an effort to amplify conflicting ideas on the subject under study and to reach conclusions based on sound rationalization of these competing ideas.
